

Cherishing Our Time

Psalm 90

Psalm 90

A Prayer of Moses, the man of God.

[1] Lord, you have been our dwelling place in all generations.

[2] Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever you had formed the earth and the world, from everlasting to everlasting you are God.

Psalm 90

[3] You return man to dust
and say, "Return, O children of man!"

[4] For a thousand years in your sight
are but as yesterday when it is past, or as a watch in the night.

Psalm 90

[5] You sweep them away as with a flood; they are like a dream, like grass that is renewed in the morning:

[6] in the morning it flourishes and is renewed; in the evening it fades and withers.

Psalm 90

[7] For we are brought to an end by your anger; by your wrath we are dismayed.

[8] You have set our iniquities before you, our secret sins in the light of your presence.

Psalm 90

[9] For all our days pass away under your wrath; we bring our years to an end like a sigh.

[10] The years of our life are seventy, or even by reason of strength eighty; yet their span is but toil and trouble; they are soon gone, and we fly away.

Psalm 90

[11] Who considers the power of your anger, and your wrath according to the fear of you?

Psalm 90

[12] So teach us to number our days
that we may get a heart of wisdom.

[13] Return, O LORD! How long?
Have pity on your servants!

Psalm 90

[14] Satisfy us in the morning with your steadfast love, that we may rejoice and be glad all our days.

[15] Make us glad for as many days as you have afflicted us, and for as many years as we have seen evil.

Psalm 90

[16] Let your work be shown to your servants, and your glorious power to their children.

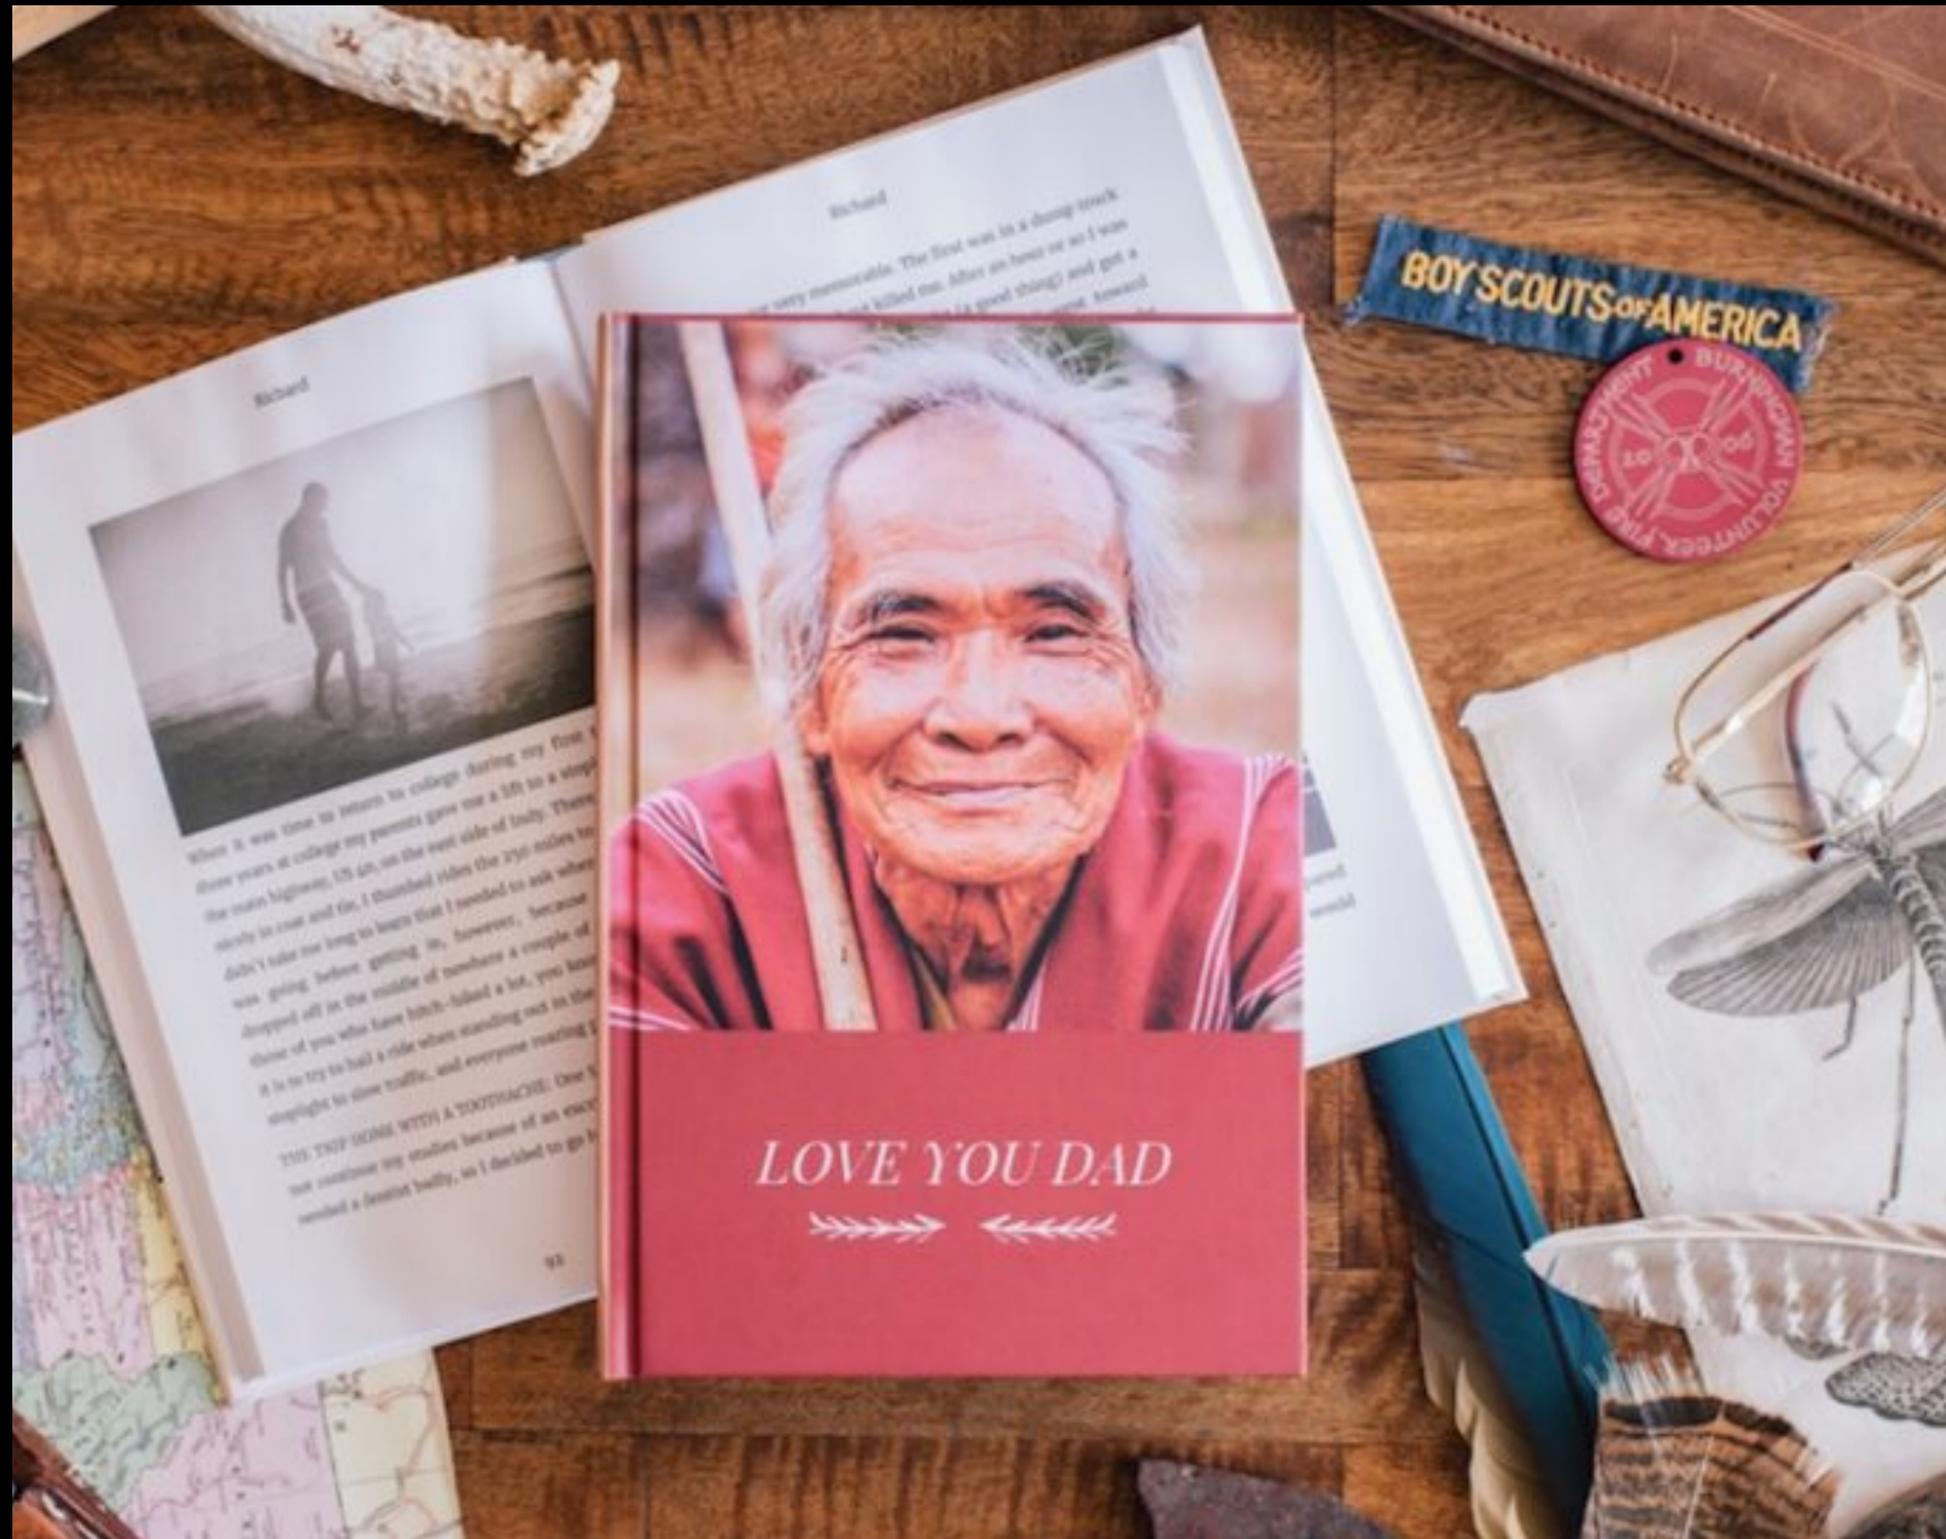

[17] Let the favor of the Lord our God be upon us, and establish the work of our hands upon us; yes, establish the work of our hands!

Psalm
90:1

Lord, you have been our dwelling place in all generations.

Psalm
90:2

Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever you had formed the earth and the world, from everlasting to everlasting
you are God.

Psalm
90 5-9

You sweep them away as with a flood; they are like a dream, like grass that is renewed in the morning:

in the morning it flourishes and is renewed; in the evening it fades and withers.

Psalm
90:5-9

For we are brought to an end by your anger; by your wrath we are dismayed.

You have set our iniquities before you, our secret sins in the light of your presence.

Psalm
90: 5-9

For all our days pass away under your wrath; we bring our years to an end like a sigh.

Psalm
90:10-11

The years of our life are seventy, or even by reason of strength eighty; yet their span is but toil and trouble; they are soon gone, and we fly away.

Who considers the power of your anger, and your wrath according to the fear of you?

Psalm
90:12

So teach us to number our days
that we may get a heart of wisdom.

Psalm
90:14-15

Satisfy us in the morning with your steadfast love, that we may rejoice and be glad all our days.

Make us glad for as many days as you have afflicted us, and for as many years as we have seen evil.

Alan Fadling

“I feel hurried inside even when nothing actually urgent is on my schedule. Hurry has become a habit: I find myself stuck in emergency mode. Even when nothing outward is pressuring me to pick up the pace, I feel an internal impulse to get some ill-defined “next thing” that needs my attention.

Alan Fadling

It's pathological. I need healing. I need grace. I need to learn from Jesus himself how to live at his unhurried pace.

Psalm
90:16-17

Let your work be shown to your servants,
and your glorious power to their children.

Let the favor of the Lord our God be upon us, and establish the work of our hands upon us; yes, establish the work of our hands!

“The Gospel is less about how to get into the Kingdom of Heaven after you die, and more about how to live in the Kingdom of Heaven before you die.”
